i also felt i’d been surrounded by and blessed by working with very good artists and art custodians who taught me a lot about their craft.

rather than standing aside meekly while their hashish was ploughed up as in the past, the farmers this year were determined to protect their lucrative crops.